

Frozen glassware

Tipp von Joe Schofield

You wouldn't serve a hot dish on a cold plate, would you? The same theory should apply to cocktail glassware. It is all about the temperature: pouring your perfectly chilled liquid into a room-temperature glass really affects the quality of your drink. There is nothing more satisfying than an ice-cold Martini. Keep your glassware in the freezer and your cocktails will thank you for it!